

---

Contents

---

Acknowledgments	ix
Preface	xi
Introduction	xiii
Part 1. Epistemological Foundations	1
Introduction to Part 1	3
Chapter 1. Techne-Poiesis and the Dispositive	5
1.1. Timelines, reproducibility and technical action.	6
1.1.1. Timelines within dispositives	7
1.1.2. The discovery of reproducibility	10
1.1.3. Technical activities: best practice, effectiveness?	11
1.2. Machines and dispositives: the place of humans	14
1.2.1. Tool, instrument	15
1.2.2. Dispositive, machine	18
1.2.3. Ability development	20
1.3. Technical rationalization and technology	23
1.3.1. Technology, an informed discourse on technique	23
1.3.2. Technology as a science of machines	26
1.3.3. Efficiency, a technological characteristic	31
1.4. Conclusion	34
Chapter 2. The Dispositive, Organization and Collective Action	35
2.1. Organizational form and role representation	36
2.1.1. The laborer	36

---

2.1.2. The artisanal dispositif . . . . .	39
2.1.3. The user within a dispositif . . . . .	40
2.1.4. What are the perceptions of the dispositif by the beneficiary user? . . . . .	41
2.2. Organizational arrangements and collective actions . . . . .	44
2.2.1. Coordination actions and standards . . . . .	44
2.2.2. Dispositive and innovation . . . . .	48
2.2.3. The dispositif in the face of vagaries . . . . .	50
2.3. Dispositive: a space of partnership configuration . . . . .	52
2.3.1. Hybridity, the essence of the dispositif . . . . .	52
2.3.2. Dispositive and institution . . . . .	53
2.3.3. The inflection of the institution . . . . .	55
2.4. Conclusion . . . . .	56
Chapter 3. Discursive Productions and the Dispositive . . . . .	59
3.1. Discursive resources and the dispositif . . . . .	60
3.1.1. Legal dispositif, a programmatic discourse . . . . .	60
3.1.2. Scenario and implementation . . . . .	62
3.1.3. A discursive and literary environment . . . . .	66
3.2. Role of the dispositif in cultural transmission . . . . .	68
3.2.1. A communicational purpose . . . . .	69
3.2.2. Materiality of collective representations . . . . .	72
3.2.3. The impression of reality of immersive dispositives . . . . .	75
3.3. The socially unthought-of . . . . .	79
3.3.1. The understanding of society by the dispositif . . . . .	79
3.3.2. Visibility, power relations and enunciation . . . . .	83
3.3.3. The overlapping of technique and the social . . . . .	87
3.4. Conclusion . . . . .	89
Part 2. The Dispositive and ICS . . . . .	93
Introduction to Part 2 . . . . .	95
Chapter 4. Complexity of Media Productions . . . . .	99
4.1. Television: an embedding of dispositives . . . . .	100
4.1.1. Material dispositives . . . . .	100
4.1.2. Dispositives of discursive production . . . . .	101
4.1.3. Economic dispositives . . . . .	102
4.2. A complex text media . . . . .	106
4.2.1. Editorial enunciation . . . . .	106
4.2.2. Editorialization and screen writing . . . . .	107
4.3. The complex informational dispositive . . . . .	112

---

4.3.1. Info-communicational dispositives . . . . .	112
4.3.2. Information architecture . . . . .	114
4.3.3. Information system and dispositive . . . . .	115
4.4. Conclusion . . . . .	119
Chapter 5. Data, Activity Traces and the Dispositive . . . . .	121
5.1. Secondary information dispositive . . . . .	123
5.1.1. A database system . . . . .	123
5.1.2. Metadata . . . . .	126
5.2. Information visibility . . . . .	130
5.2.1. Social information and mediation . . . . .	130
5.2.2. Interface and user . . . . .	132
5.2.3. The meaning given to data by users . . . . .	136
5.3. A cybernetic vision of the dispositive . . . . .	139
5.3.1. The cybernetic point of view on data . . . . .	140
5.3.2. Algorithm, statistics and search engine . . . . .	143
5.3.3. Specificities of the activity trace processing . . . . .	145
5.4. Conclusion . . . . .	148
Chapter 6. Digital Participation and Work . . . . .	151
6.1. Participation on a specific platform . . . . .	152
6.1.1. Collective writing . . . . .	153
6.1.2. Participative ideology and interface design . . . . .	155
6.1.3. Communities and incentive modalities . . . . .	157
6.2. Collective work actions, dispositive and digital technology . . . . .	160
6.2.1. Is the platform reduced to a tool in a collective action dispositive? . . . . .	161
6.2.2. Interaction, the ingredient of dispositive analyses . . . . .	163
6.2.3. Operating frameworks and use frameworks . . . . .	165
6.3. Actions, representations and effects of the dispositive . . . . .	168
6.3.1. Operative actions of the user . . . . .	168
6.3.2. Use memory and metadispositive . . . . .	171
6.3.3. Subjugation of participants and the dispositive . . . . .	175
6.4. Conclusion . . . . .	178
Conclusion . . . . .	179
References . . . . .	185
Index of Authors . . . . .	211
Index of Common Terms . . . . .	217

---