

---

Contents

---

Foreword . . . . .	ix
Introduction . . . . .	xi
Part 1. The Restaurant: An Eminently Urban Subject . . . . .	1
Introduction to Part 1 . . . . .	3
Chapter 1. The Geographical Origin of the Restaurant: The Urban Environment . . . . .	5
1.1. From bouillons... . . . .	5
1.2. ... to the establishment . . . . .	6
Chapter 2. The Concentration of Restaurants in the City Centers . . . . .	15
2.1. A center-specific logic... . . . .	16
2.2. ... to a logic of axes . . . . .	29
2.2.1. Axial diffusion . . . . .	29
2.2.2. Social diffusion . . . . .	34
Chapter 3. The Geographical Diffusion of Restaurants in Provinces by Cities and City Networks. . . . . .	41
3.1. The geographical diffusion of restaurants in the provinces: an application of rank-size law... . . . .	41
3.2. ... but disrupted by tourism. . . . .	43

Part 2. The Restaurant in Terms of Places and Geographical Spaces . . . . .	47
Introduction to Part 2 . . . . .	49
Chapter 4. Logics and Strategies for Locating Restaurants . . . . .	51
4.1. The logic of proximity . . . . .	51
4.1.1. Proximity to the political and administrative sphere and the business world . . . . .	51
4.1.2. Proximity to the cultural sphere and the artistic world . . . . .	54
4.1.3. Proximity to food retail and supply points . . . . .	58
4.2. Accessibility logics . . . . .	60
4.3. The logic of landscape charm . . . . .	66
4.4. The logic of assimilation . . . . .	73
4.4.1. Affectivity . . . . .	73
4.4.2. Appropriation . . . . .	76
Chapter 5. Restaurants in the City . . . . .	87
5.1. Restaurants in small cities . . . . .	88
5.2. Restaurants in average-sized cities . . . . .	90
5.3. New dynamics in large cities . . . . .	91
Chapter 6. Restaurants in the Countryside and the Relationship Between Cities and the Countryside . . . . .	97
6.1. Restaurants in the countryside . . . . .	98
6.2. The restaurant, the city/countryside relationship and nature in the city . . . . .	100
Part 3. The Restaurant at the Heart of the Tourist System . . . . .	111
Introduction to Part 3 . . . . .	113
Chapter 7. The Relationship Between the Restaurant and Tourism . . . . .	115
7.1. Complementary relations between restaurants and tourism . . . . .	116
7.1.1. Along the coastlines, at the beach . . . . .	116
7.1.2. In the mountains . . . . .	117
7.2. The interdependence between restaurants and tourism . . . . .	119
7.2.1. The restaurant through tourism . . . . .	119
7.2.2. The restaurant for tourism . . . . .	126

---

Chapter 8. The Restaurant, a Tool for Gourmet Tourism . . . . .	141
8.1. Cavaillon . . . . .	142
8.2. Le Puy-Sainte-Réparate . . . . .	147
8.3. Megève . . . . .	151
Chapter 9. The Restaurant as a Gourmet Tourist Destination . . . . .	155
9.1. The gourmet tourist destination: from the 3-star Michelin restaurant . . . . .	155
9.2. . . . to a network of restaurants . . . . .	159
Part 4. The Restaurant as a Tool for Local Development . . . . .	163
Introduction to Part 4 . . . . .	165
Chapter 10. Restaurants and Local Development in Urban Areas . . . . .	169
10.1. At street level . . . . .	169
10.2. At neighborhood level . . . . .	178
Chapter 11. Restaurant and Local Development in Rural Areas . . . . .	185
11.1. On the scale of the plateau . . . . .	186
11.2. Across the country . . . . .	193
11.3. At the village level . . . . .	200
Part 5. The Restaurant: What Heritage? . . . . .	207
Introduction to Part 5 . . . . .	209
Chapter 12. The Restaurant: From Monument to Heritage . . . . .	211
12.1. The restaurant as a historical monument . . . . .	211
12.2. The restaurant as a showcase for intangible cultural heritage . . . . .	233
12.2.1. The repertoire restaurant . . . . .	233
12.2.2. The haven restaurant . . . . .	237
12.2.3. The observatory restaurant . . . . .	240
12.2.4. The conservatory restaurant . . . . .	243
12.3. The restaurant in heritage . . . . .	248

Chapter 13. Tourists as Actors in the Process of Adding Cultural Heritage to Restaurants . . . . .	251
13.1. Parisian brasseries . . . . .	251
13.2. Lyon's bouchons . . . . .	258
13.3. La Mère Poulard restaurant in Mont-Saint-Michel . . . . .	261
13.4. What about the bouillons? . . . . .	263
Conclusion . . . . .	273
References . . . . .	275
Index . . . . .	285