

---

Contents

---

|   |      |
|---|------|
| Foreword by Patrick Gilbert . . . . .  | xiii |
| Patrick GILBERT   |      |
| Foreword by IPSI . . . . .   | xv   |
| Xavier LE COQ, Jacques LAUVERGNE and Emmanuelle CHAPELIER   |      |
| Introduction . . . . .   | xix  |
| Florent NOËL  |      |
| Part 1 Towards a General Theory of Employability . . . . .   | 1    |
| Introduction to Part 1 . . . . .   | 3    |
| Bernard GAZIER  |      |
| Chapter 1. Employability and Public Policy: A Century-long Learning Process and Unfinished Process . . . . .                           | 7    |
| Bernard GAZIER  |      |
| 1.1. One hundred years of trial and error between the individual and the collective: seven operational definitions of employability . . . . . | 8    |
| 1.1.1. Seven versions in three waves during the 20th century . . . . .  | 8    |
| 1.1.2. From static to dynamic and from unilateral to interactive . . . . .  | 12   |
| 1.2. Current tensions and recompositions . . . . .  | 13   |
| 1.2.1. “Profiling”, from contextual calibration to negotiated interaction . . . . .   | 13   |
| 1.2.2. Employability between individual capacity and collective construction . . . . .  | 14   |
| 1.3. Conclusion . . . . .   | 16   |
| 1.4. References . . . . .   | 17   |

Chapter 2. Employability as a Managerial Imperative? . . . . . 19

Florent NOËL and Géraldine SCHMIDT

|  |    |
|--|----|
| 2.1. Employability and change: the migration of a concept . . . . .                      | 20 |
| 2.1.1. Employability, a matter of public policy . . . . .                                | 21 |
| 2.1.2. Employability as an employer’s responsibility in managing restructuring . . . . . | 21 |
| 2.1.3. Employability as an individual responsibility . . . . .                           | 21 |
| 2.1.4. Employability for the development of organizations and individuals? . . . . .     | 22 |
| 2.2. Employability management practices . . . . .  | 25 |
| 2.2.1. Assessing employability . . . . .   | 25 |
| 2.2.2. Developing employability . . . . .  | 27 |
| 2.3. Conclusion . . . . .  | 29 |
| 2.4. References . . . . .  | 31 |

Chapter 3. Capability-based Employability: A Total Organizational Fact . . . . . 33

Bénédicte ZIMMERMANN

|   |    |
|---|----|
| 3.1. Employability: being able and enabled to . . . . .                           | 35 |
| 3.1.1. Qualification, skills and competence: what it means to be capable. . . . . | 36 |
| 3.1.2. Being able to: a condition for the exercise of responsibility . . . . .    | 37 |
| 3.2. Skill-based employability, capability-based employability . . . . .          | 39 |
| 3.2.1. Employability based on skill maintenance . . . . .                         | 39 |
| 3.2.2. Employability based on skill development . . . . .                         | 39 |
| 3.2.3. Employability based on capability. . . . .                                 | 40 |
| 3.3. A total organizational fact. . . . .   | 40 |
| 3.4. The five traits of the capability-enhancing organization . . . . .           | 42 |
| 3.5. Conclusion . . . . .   | 44 |
| 3.6. References . . . . .   | 45 |

Part 2. Employability and Individual Trajectories . . . . . 47

Introduction to Part 2 . . . . . 49

Pauline de BECDELIÈVRE

Chapter 4. The “Unemployable”: Different Figures, Between Societal Construction and Unconscious Meanings . . . . . 53

Raymonde FERRANDI

|   |    |
|---|----|
| 4.1. People who are not allowed to work . . . . . | 54 |
| 4.1.1. Migrants . . . . .                         | 54 |
| 4.1.2. Persons reaching the age limit . . . . .   | 54 |

|  |    |
|--|----|
| 4.1.3. People who are still off work or declared unfit by the occupational physician . . . . . | 55 |
| 4.2. Discriminated audiences . . . . .   | 55 |
| 4.2.1. Situations of discrimination in the texts. . . . .                                      | 56 |
| 4.2.2. Situations on the ground often ignored or denied . . . . .                              | 56 |
| 4.3. Audiences for cognitive remediation. . . . .  | 58 |
| 4.3.1. From the children of the Shoah to the young people of the “neighborhoods” . . . . .     | 58 |
| 4.3.2. Interest and limits of the analysis in terms of “deprivation” . . . . .                 | 59 |
| 4.4. People who “suffer” in social work through their work . . . . .                           | 60 |
| 4.4.1. The unconscious and the law of repetition – the transference. . . . .                   | 60 |
| 4.4.2. Transfer to the social scene and work . . . . .   | 61 |
| 4.4.3. The “opportunities” offered by the context. . . . .                                     | 62 |
| 4.4.4. A perpetual misunderstanding . . . . .  | 62 |
| 4.5. The generation of refusal . . . . .   | 63 |
| 4.5.1. A self-definition that no longer necessarily involves work . . . . .                    | 63 |
| 4.5.2. The refusal of suffering at work . . . . .  | 64 |
| 4.6. Conclusion – discussion. . . . .  | 65 |
| 4.6.1. Audiences, people and problems? . . . . .   | 65 |
| 4.6.2. Personal characteristics and contextual factors. . . . .                                | 65 |
| 4.6.3. Evolution over time. . . . .  | 66 |
| 4.6.4. Taking invisible tools seriously . . . . .  | 66 |
| 4.7. References . . . . .  | 67 |

Chapter 5. Staying in the Game: Employability and Mobile Careers in the IT Industry . . . . . 69

Pauline DE BECDELÈVRE, Jean-Yves OTTMANN and Cindy FELIO

|  |    |
|--|----|
| 5.1. Independence as the pinnacle of a boundaryless career orientation . . . . . | 73 |
| 5.1.1. The choice of independence . . . . .                                      | 73 |
| 5.1.2. Career opportunities . . . . .  | 74 |
| 5.2. Maintaining employability as a condition of independence . . . . .          | 75 |
| 5.2.1. Employability development . . . . .                                       | 75 |
| 5.2.2. Choice of mission and employability . . . . .                             | 76 |
| 5.3. Boundaryless career success and employability. . . . .                      | 77 |
| 5.3.1. A “cognitive compass”? . . . . .  | 77 |
| 5.3.2. What are the factual orientations of their careers? . . . . .             | 78 |
| 5.4. Conclusion . . . . .  | 80 |
| 5.4.1. Contributions and research avenues . . . . .                              | 80 |
| 5.4.2. Openings and societal issues. . . . .                                     | 82 |
| 5.5. References . . . . .  | 83 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Chapter 6. Employability in the Era of Digitization of Jobs . . . . .                          | 85  |
| Martina GIANECCHINI, Paolo GUBITTA and Sara DOTTO   |     |
| 6.1. Introduction . . . . .   | 85  |
| 6.2. Skills for the contemporary labor market . . . . .   | 86  |
| 6.2.1. The T-shaped professionals . . . . .   | 86  |
| 6.2.2. Employability in the changing labor market . . . . .   | 87  |
| 6.2.3. Technological change and work design . . . . .   | 88  |
| 6.3. Research methods . . . . .   | 90  |
| 6.3.1. Research setting and sample . . . . .  | 90  |
| 6.3.2. Variables . . . . .  | 91  |
| 6.3.3. Data analysis . . . . .  | 92  |
| 6.4. Findings . . . . .   | 92  |
| 6.5. Discussions and directions for future research . . . . .   | 94  |
| 6.6. References . . . . .   | 96  |
|   |     |
| Part 3. Career Stages, HRM and Employability . . . . .   | 101 |
|   |     |
| Introduction to Part 3 . . . . .   | 103 |
| Benoît GRASSER  |     |
|   |     |
| Chapter 7. The MRS, a Device in Favor of Employability and Social Performance . . . . .        | 107 |
| Anne-Laure GATIGNON-TURNAU and Séverine VENTOLINI   |     |
| 7.1. The MRS as a partnership practice . . . . .  | 108 |
| 7.1.1. The MRS from the point of view of Pôle emploi: placing the long-term unemployed . . . . .      | 108 |
| 7.1.2. The MRS from an organizational perspective: mass recruitment for jobs under pressure . . . . . | 109 |
| 7.1.3. The MRS from the candidate's perspective: getting back into the labor market . . . . .         | 110 |
| 7.2. MRS and employability . . . . .  | 111 |
| 7.2.1. Employability as a type of psychological contract . . . . .                                    | 111 |
| 7.2.2. The MRS as a mechanism for the new psychological contract . . . . .                            | 112 |
| 7.2.3. The effects of MRS recruitment on employee loyalty . . . . .                                   | 113 |
| 7.3. Survey and main findings on MRS recruitment . . . . .  | 115 |
| 7.3.1. Survey protocol . . . . .  | 115 |
| 7.3.2. Socio-demographic characteristics of recruited candidates . . . . .                            | 116 |
| 7.3.3. The results of the survey: the conditions for the MRS to be a positive HR lever . . . . .      | 117 |
| 7.4. Discussion and conclusion of the results . . . . .   | 118 |
| 7.4.1. Benefits of the MRS in terms of commitment . . . . .   | 118 |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| 7.4.2. Recruitment and employer brand . . . . .  | 120        |
| 7.5. References . . . . .  | 120        |
| Chapter 8. Recruiting in Innovative Activities: From the Impossible Search for a Match to the Construction of Employability . . . . .                   | 123 |
| Thierry COLIN, Benoît GRASSER and Fabien MEIER   |            |
| 8.1. Recruiting for an innovative activity in a context of rapid growth in production . . . . .  | 124        |
| 8.1.1. Initial situation and issues . . . . .  | 124        |
| 8.1.2. The external dimension of the system: broadening and qualifying the recruitment base . . . . .  | 125        |
| 8.1.3. The internal dimension of the system: design of a formalized tutoring approach. . . . .   | 126        |
| 8.2. The effects and actual functioning of these devices. . . . .  | 127        |
| 8.2.1. The central role of teaching tools . . . . .  | 128        |
| 8.2.2. A multiplication of singular tutor–learner relationships . . . . .  | 129        |
| 8.2.3. Impact of the system on the rules of collective action . . . . .  | 130        |
| 8.3. Lessons learned in terms of employability . . . . .   | 131        |
| 8.3.1. Employability, a convention to be imagined, negotiated and implemented . . . . .  | 132        |
| 8.3.2. Employability, an approach that goes beyond the search for a match between needs and resources . . . . .  | 132        |
| 8.3.3. Employability, a construction around a double frontier: internal/external and training/production . . . . .   | 133        |
| 8.4. Conclusion . . . . .  | 135        |
| 8.5. References . . . . .  | 136        |
| Chapter 9. Reclassification and Employability: A Reading in Terms of Boundary Objects . . . . .   | 137 |
| Ève SAINT-GERMES   |            |
| 9.1. Social support for company liquidations: a collective actor for the employability of those made redundant. . . . .  | 138        |
| 9.2. Studying the boundary objects of the reclassification of victims of collective dismissals . . . . .   | 140        |
| 9.3. Study of an emblematic case, the reclassification cell of the Air Littoral liquidation PSE . . . . .  | 141        |
| 9.4. The boundary objects of the reclassification of victims of the Air Littoral PSE. . . . .  | 143        |
| 9.4.1. The boundary between the reclassification cell and the monitoring committee: negotiating the means, standards and results of reclassification . . . . . | 143        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 9.4.2. The reclassification cell – individual boundary: managing categories and assessing situations. . . . .                             | 145        |
| 9.5. Discussion: the infrastructure of individual and collective employability in reclassification . . . . .                              | 146        |
| 9.5.1. The infrastructure for translating individual employability: profiling a psychological state and a personal situation . . . . .    | 146        |
| 9.5.2. The negotiated infrastructure of collective employability: contested categories that make the unsupported invisible . . . . .      | 146        |
| 9.6. Conclusion . . . . .   | 147        |
| 9.7. References . . . . .   | 148        |
|   |            |
| Chapter 10. Being Employable, a Matter of Context. . . . .   | 151 |
| Sara DOTTO, Patrick GILBERT, Florent NOËL and Nathalie RAULET-CROSET  |            |
| 10.1. Employability, an imperative between universalism and contingency . . . . .   | 152        |
| 10.1.1. The employable individual: an exceptional being? . . . . .  | 152        |
| 10.1.2. Being employable: a matter of context . . . . .   | 153        |
| 10.1.3. A conventionalist interpretation of employability . . . . .   | 153        |
| 10.2. Results. . . . .  | 157        |
| 10.2.1. Fabdièse: employability in the industrial world. . . . .  | 157        |
| 10.2.2. Servinfo: employability in the commercial world . . . . .   | 159        |
| 10.2.3. Aidiance: employability in the interpersonal world . . . . .  | 161        |
| 10.3. Conclusion . . . . .  | 162        |
| 10.4. References . . . . .  | 164        |
|   |            |
| Part 4. Employability and Work Situations . . . . .  | 167 |
|   |            |
| Introduction to Part 4 . . . . .   | 169 |
| Nathalie RAULET-CROSET  |            |
|   |            |
| Chapter 11. What are the Possible Futures in the Factories of the Future? The Case of Operators in an Aeronautics Company. . . . . | 173 |
| Emmanuelle GARBE and Jérémy VIGNAL  |            |
| 11.1. Review of the literature . . . . .  | 174        |
| 11.1.1. Factories of the future: characteristics and challenges of ongoing digital transformations. . . . .                               | 174        |
| 11.1.2. Digital transformation of industry and skills: the case of operators. . . . .   | 176        |
| 11.2. Methodology . . . . .   | 178        |
| 11.3. Results. . . . .  | 179        |
| 11.3.1. Between skills upgrading and deskilling: a polarization that can be observed within the operator population itself. . . . .       | 179        |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 11.3.2. Between skills upgrading and deskilling: is there a “third way” in the factories of the future? . . . . . | 181 |
| 11.3.3. Faced with digital transformation: what HR support for operators? . . .                                   | 182 |
| 11.4. Conclusion . . . . .  | 183 |
| 11.5. References . . . . .  | 183 |

Chapter 12. Digital Technologies as a Lever for Developing the Employability of Middle Managers . . . . . 187

Anne-Laure DELAUNAY

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 12.1. The employability of middle managers. . . . .                              | 188 |
| 12.2. Digital technology and employability of middle managers. . . . .           | 189 |
| 12.3. Research context . . . . .   | 192 |
| 12.4. Data collection and analysis. . . . .                                      | 193 |
| 12.5. Main results. . . . .  | 194 |
| 12.5.1. Result 1: an opportunity to tinker . . . . .                             | 194 |
| 12.5.2. Result 2: an opportunity to develop technical and managerial expertise . | 195 |
| 12.5.3. Result 3: digital technology as a barrier to employability? . . . . .    | 196 |
| 12.6. Discussion. . . . .  | 197 |
| 12.6.1. Digital technologies and managerial leeway . . . . .                     | 197 |
| 12.6.2. Towards an enabling environment: digital and DIY . . . . .               | 197 |
| 12.7. Conclusion . . . . .   | 198 |
| 12.8. References . . . . .   | 198 |

Chapter 13. Work as a Factor of Integration and Employability: The Case of Trisociété . . . . . 203

Emmanuelle BEGON and Michel PARLIER

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 13.1. From employability controversies to the study problem . . . . .                       | 204 |
| 13.2. Professional integration and production requirements: the case of Trisociété. . . . . | 206 |
| 13.2.1. Presentation of the case . . . . .  | 206 |
| 13.2.2. Remarkable elements of the Trisociété experience . . . . .                          | 208 |
| 13.3. Discussion: from employability to “employerability”. . . . .                          | 210 |
| 13.3.1. Axis 1: production requirements and quality of working conditions . . .             | 210 |
| 13.3.2. Axis 2: organizational and managerial support . . . . .                             | 211 |
| 13.3.3. Axis 3: speaking work . . . . .   | 212 |
| 13.3.4. Axis 4: professional support for career paths . . . . .                             | 213 |
| 13.3.5. Axis 5: business agility . . . . .  | 214 |
| 13.4. Conclusion . . . . .  | 215 |
| 13.5. References . . . . .  | 215 |

|                              |     |
|------------------------------|-----|
| Conclusion .....      | 217 |
| Géraldine SCHMIDT            |     |
| List of Authors ..... | 221 |
| Index .....           | 223 |